She is more than a friend

How is these two beautiful women have a very big impact on my heart? It is due to history ... knowing one for thirty-five years and the other for thirty-three? The funny thing about this remarkable friendship of ours is that we haven't lived in the same state for thirty years ... Thirty-one years of long-distance friendship built on the foundation of a middle school friendship. My connection to these two women gives me hope for adolescents friendships and focusing on bright light and on the connection, rather than the negative society and caddy of society often imposes on teenage girls. The irreging waters of being a teenager can be brutal ... strokes, breakouts, puzzeleant armpits, inclusion and so often feelings of exclusion and doubtful, but with these two by my side, as a teenager, life was Easier. Thirty-one years later, life is even easier with them in it. Thirty-one years of not knowing the intricate details of the other daily life, but rather to know the heart and soul of each other. I know at a time I can write or take the phone and are there. These two women do not need to know the refined details, they know me alone ... and this is beauty. Photo of courtesy: the one they return together / IMDB, so no one told you that the fabase would have been so, eh? Friends, who turned 25 years ago, was named the most streaming of the world from Nielsen. To appease spectators Diehard, Netflix also paid Warnerermedia a barceriant 100 million dollars for another 12 months of streaming rights. But these days, HBO is the streaming service that wins the game (and the lightning round) when it comes to content of friends. That is to say, reunion fans have hoped since the final of the show is finally coming to HBO and HBO max on Thursday 27 May. It is right - you can stream now. "Subtended appropriately" the one in which they come together, "the official trailer for friends reunion shows all six stars" Á ě ä,~ Jennifer Aniston (Rachel), Courtey Cox (Monica), Lisa Kudrow (Phoebe), Matt Leblanc (Joey), Matteo Perry (Chandler) and David Schwimmer (Ross) Á ě ä,~ "on the original SoundStage of the show in Burbank. In addition to giving fans a sincere observation to their real life friendships, the cast tests the Their knowledge of the show, revisits some beloved set and participate in a few secure table readings-to-be-but. And, yes, there is a live study audience - at least for the interview portions. Without a doubt, This sitcom laugh has created an idealized version of what you like to surf with your life with your best friends in your 20s Á ě ä,~ "so much that it has become the television version of food comfort. Fortunately, there are still some secrets behind the scenes that even friends more fanatics don't know it Á ě ä,~ "and we are taking a look along the release of friends of HBO Reunion. Could we be more excited?! What is there " In a name? Well, very, especially if your sitcom becomes one of the most popular TV programs of all time. But before the creators they settled on friends, some different titles were thrown behind the scenes. Photo by courtesy: Jon Ragel / NBCU Photo Bank / NBCunivers away Getty Images When the show was launched, the creators gave you "Insomnia café", but that rapidly has changed with the simplest "friends like us". After the pilot was Ordered status, an NBC Exec slapped the name "Through the corridor" on the show, and while the pilot was filmed, the sitcom was nicknamed "six of one". In the end, the simplest title won Á ě ä,~ "Thank the bontà. On reflection, the denomination convention of the episode of Sitcom seems quite brilliant. When you're chatting with Pals about TV. Often difficult to remember the names of the episodes, making it easier to say "Oh, is the one with football," or whatever detail stands out. Photo of courtesy: Warner Bros. Television / Getty Images as they know that fans know, every episode is titled "that with ...", but this interview interview The convention was not necessarily made by intelligence. "We stayed on enough shows in which people spent so much time trying to invent intelligent titles, pungent," said David Craner's co-creator today. "So, I thought about the way you always talk about an episode." It's not lazy, of for her own, but it's certainly efficient. Before landing his iconic role of Joey Tribiani, Matt Leblanc was the epitome of the stereotype of actors in difficulty. Living from Gig To Gig, Leblanc had only $ 11 in the bank when he nailed his hearing as friends. Photo by Gentle Concession: Photo Bank NBCU / NBCunivers Via Getty Images Via Getty Images in an interview with Conan OÁ ě ä "e Brien, Leblanc reminded that it was almost at the end of his rope" He could barely afford the food " And he was looking to integrate his income with a second job in the food services sector. Of course, things processed for the actor, whose net network now amounts to $ 80 million. When you think about friends, a vast budget of hair and makeup is not exactly something that comes to mind. Given the "Mondana" nature of the show - 20-Somethings browsing life to New York - the costumes are not exactly extravagant. Photo courtesy: NBCUniversal / IMDB However, when the final series turns, the hair department and makeup had their work cut for them. Overwhelmed that things were finally wrapping, the cast continued to cry between scenes. "I don't think we never tookj more time in hair and makeup," said Jennifer Aniston told Oprah during a group interview with the cast. While the set of episodes set in Las Vegas is iconic, the fans will be pleased to know that the cast enjoyed a notose of the Nevada Strip together very much before those storylined came to fruition. Before shooting the pilot, the director James Burrows took the six members of the main cast on a trip to Las Vegas, ensuring that this was their last possibility to enjoy the anonymity. Photo of courtesy: NBCU Photo Bank / NBCUnivers away Getty Images According to reportedly, Burrows was so some friends would launch the six actors in Superstarm, he lent their money for gambling. The journey has revealed a great time of binding for the cast, which would have been famous, as a team is pumped before shooting episodes. A cherry on top of the sundae? Vegas-based episodes are a nod of the trip that started everything. Known simply as Gunther, this salted bartender, loving loving by the central Perk quickly became a preferred lateral character from the fan. Even the duck and chick have nothing on James Michael Tyler, with blond hair, the tie to wear coffee connoisseur. Pictures of courtesy: Anthony Harvey / Getty Images However, what fans may not realize is that Tyler landed the role of him for a rather practical reason. According to Comedy Central, he was launched as an extra unnamed, but when the show needed someone to work the espresso coffee machine, Tyler stepped forward. This is right - knowing how to prepare a thin cup of coffee can help you clog an iconic part. Despite the yield of $ 1 million dollars per episode, Breakout Star Jennifer Aniston almost returned to the final Sitcom season. An international star at a standing, she was landing film roles and in the middle of her marriage loved by Tabloid to Superstar Brad Pitt. Photo of courtesy: Warner Bros. Television / Getty Images Aniston was hesitant to come back for a tenth season, because she wanted her friends to leave her on top of her. At the end of the ninth season, the evaluations seemed good, and the enthusiasts were still growing up for the sitcom. Personal level, it was not sure that it could play Rachel for much longer, which, in the end, led to a substantially brief final season. Over the years, many sitcoms worked around the pregnancies of actors' real life in interesting ways. Fellow Á - 90s Sitcom Seinfeld has taken the habit of putting big objects in front of the character of Julie Louis-Dreyfus to hide her collisism. When Lisa Kudrow was pregnant, her friends took a different approach. Photo of courtesy: NBCUniversal / IMDB instead of hiding it behind medication set or give Excessively big sweaters to wear, the team of friends decided to write a pregnancy plot for Phoebe, the character of Kudrow. Since Phoebe was not going back to anyone seriously at that time, the writers had to become creative, which led to the wild phoebe texture that acts as a surrogate for his brother and his wife. Back When the creators of the show launched friends at NBC, it was a bit of gambling. Although TV monsters on aimless 20-Somethings that lives in New York - or a comparable city - it is a dozen dozen now, this focus was completely new at that time. Needless to say, Exases gave creators rather some notes. Photo of courtesy: First Getty Images, NBC Execs thought the cafeteria was too "hence". Now, at a time of hipster coffee and roasted coffee locally, which looks like a strange note to give, but NBC thought would have been more affected if the creators exchanged the central advantage for a dining restaurant. Another note? NBC suggested adding an essay character, advice, but, fortunately, "the policeman" is noted, was Nixed from the creative team of friends. Although the direhards are now unable to imagine other actors to enter one of the small iconic six roles, the friends casting process was not so cut and dry at the beginning. Will & Grace Star Eric McCormack Audit for Ross, although the part has been presumably written with David Schwimmer in mind. Photo of courtesy: Bank photo NBCU / NBCunivers away Getty Images Several future stars Stars initially audition for roles Leader: The Simpsons Hank Azaria tried for Joey, Glee Jane Lynch tried his hand in Phoebe and the showrunner Mandarinrunner Jon Favreau Audit for Chandler . Perhaps the strange one? The producers thought of Courteney Cox would make a great Rachel, but, fortunately, Cox, who was one of the most famous actors of the show at that time, really wanted to play Monica. Fans are still still or Bemaan or celebrate Rachel's decision to get off the plane to Paris, thus sacrificing her career as a dream of her for Ross. However, the last volunte of Sitcom - The-WinT-Wintà, á ě ä are couples who end up together have not been negotiable for the co-creators of the show, David Crane and Marta Kauffman. Photo of courtesy: NBCUniversal / IMDB "The only thing we used to be very early was that we had to take Ross and Rachel together," said the crane to weekly entertainment. "We had [jumped] the audience around for 10 years with their Á ě ä,~á ä ä ä ä ä ä ä ä ä "They or they didn't win, ä, "and we didn't see any advantage for frustrating." To keep this under the casings, the producers claimed to have filmed the true final without a study audience. Even though he wasn't false, this was a smart way to hold the audience. Most fans will recall a third-seas episode in which Joey wears a sling, something that was explained as an injury the character sustained as he jumps on his bed. While this fits with Joey's personality to a "T", the wound actually had real life origins. Photo of courtesy: Friends "the one in which Joey loses his insurance" / IMDB during the set, Matt Leblanc moved a scene that involved both him and Matthew Perry running for a comfortable chair. The two ended collision, and, while comically, he also led to Leblanc, the wound of the shoulder very real. When it happened, we can't help but I wonder if someone on set asked him: "How do you do?" Although friends ended in 2004, Lisa Kudrow still had to do with the consequence of 2008. That year, he concluded his contract with his long-standing Scott Howard director, so he made himself understood, claiming that Kudow He still had to residue for reeled friends. Photo of courtesy: & Taylor / NBCU Photo Bank / NBCUniversa Via Getty Images Kudrow claimed not to have anything - especially not the no Whopping 10% who was asking - after the dissolved contract. However, the judge concluded the connection with Howard in 2014, assigning it a cooling of $ 1.6 million. Of course, the little dog changes to Kudrow, which is worth about $ 90 million. Even the celebrities that are popular, the world has to face the same daily problems as there are average joes. In 2010, David David He bought a terraced house in the eastern village of New York and decided to break down the building for a renovation. Photo of courtesy: David M. Benett / Dave Benett / Getty Images for Sky The terraced house was intact since 1852, so it wasn't really surprising when the anonymous neighbors had a bone to choose from the star of friends. The nearby in question in a spray painted "Ross is not nice" in giant letters on the construction site fence. (Mature, right?) Just like the character of him Sitcom of him, Schwimmer was not the most popular person in the neighborhood. While some celebrities take care of the lasting lifestyle at the height of their careers, others take that route a little previously. Matt Leblanc was one of those first flowers: it was arrested twice for drunk driving, something he kept a secret until his wrapped friends. Photo of courtesy: NBCUniversal / IMDB "When I was young and stupid [the arrests have happened]," Leblanc confessed the hosts of the top gear, a show on the cars. "I wasn't driving quickly, just crooked." Fortunately for Leblanc, holding the narrow lethols about the incidents meant that the press never dug the mugshots of him, which would have been a bad PR for a show that presented a version so Cleica of life. If you haven't lived through the ä, - 90s, you never understand how popular "La Rachel" at that time. She takes its name after the iconic hairstyle of Jennifer Aniston, layered hairstyle, the style pushed women throughout the country to run into the salons, asking for the look. Although she is popular among fans and other celebrities, Aniston actually hated the cut. Photo of courtesy: NBC TV / Getty Images [en] It was a kind of handling for me", admitted Aniston, adding that it was "the bad hair cut I have never seen". Aniston's hairstylist, Chris McMillan, admitted that Rachel is actually born of a mistake. McMillan confessed to take "a little green" before the Aniston appointment, which accidentally led him buzzing his hair. Needless to say, the resolution of the creative problems of him has led to a tendency to hairstyle without rivals. Of the six members of the main cast, David Schwimmer has always been the least inclined to enjoy the limelight. In fact, he struggled with the new fame of him-and with being so associated with the character of him-to the point that he left away from roles on the screen once friends ended up. Photo of courtesy: NBCUniversal / IMDB "was rather poorly, and has messed up my relationship with other people in a way that has taken years, I think that, for me to fit and become at ease with" Schwimmer admitted. "It made me want to hide under a baseball cap." Meanwhile, Matt Leblanc found himself having an almost nervous break after the show - and the failed spin-off Joey is Á ě ä,~ "yen, even telling his agent." Please lose my number for some Years ". Ten-time Emmy Nominee (and winner of a once) Lisa Kudrow is a woman of many talents. However, there is an ability who refused to take, despite which description of Phoebe character called initially . Photo of courtesy: Friends "the one after the superbowl: part I" / IMDB while fans have a soft spot for the terrible phoebe guitar that plays - "smelly cat," someone? Á ě ä,~ "writers have them Written a talented musician. Completely, Kudrow hated to play the guitar and refused to learn in those seasons in advance, even after the friend's crew called a tutor for her. "I didn't see him," Kudrow said, remembering his failed attempts to learn the guitar. "I think I even asked, Á ě ä ä ~ What happens if you play the bongos? Ä "The sequence of the show title is one of his More iconic, but when it came to shoot assembly, the actors were putting the wringer. The shooting started at four in the morning, and from Burbank, California, in the standards, it was a cold morning. Exhausted, Jennifer Aniston had a difficult time grasping the concept Á ě ä,~ "Formal clothing, umbrellas, spraying in a fountain? Á ě ä,~" But all that pain and suffering and freezing have paid. Photo courtesy: Reisig & Taylor / NBCU Photo Bank / NBCUnivers away Getty Getty Not only is the title sequence is incredible, but it's almost impossible to separate the support song from the Sitcom. When the creators of friends asked the Rembrands to write a thematic song, the band struck quickly "I will be there for you." Originally, the song was long enough for credits, but the band had to complete a complete track to stop Radio DJ to shake their "complete versions" together. In "the one with the cat", a feline friend emerges from the case of the Phoebe guitar, causing the unlucky musician to think that the cat in question is a reincarnation of her last mother. Of course, Phoebe had his right part of strange lines of plot, but for the cast and writers, this seemed a little too strange. Photo of courtesy: Friends "the one with the cat" / IMDB presumably, the episode made the cut because it was launched by co-creator Marta Kauffman after the passage of her mother. Needless to say, no one felt at ease to vocalize their criticisms. When he arrived to another plot, however, the cast spoke: most of the cast members, including Matt Leblanc, hated the pairing Rachel / Joey and the subsequent love story. When you marry Brad Pitt, Jennifer Aniston cordially sent wedding invitations to her friends of her co-protagonists. However, despite being still a close-screen look, the boys did not understand the cut when it arrived at Aniston's wedding with Justin Theroux in 2015. Photo of courtesy: NBCUniversal / IMDB was a small wedding Á ě ä,~ "Just 70 guests Á ě ä,~" so while Matthew Perry said he was surprised to have been skipped, he was still happy for the couple. Aniston, who is the godmother of the Courtney Cox daughter and who continues to hold a thread of text with Cox and Kudrow, invited her friends of her to her second marriage. Although they had six actors and legions of top-billed fans, friends didn't do everything that comes to prizes. After a decade on the air - and hordes of extremely zealous fans - the show went away with only four Emmy victories, one for a series of exceptional comedies in 2002, one to direct in a series comedy in 1996 and two to act. . Photo courtesy: NBCUniversal / IMDB of the six stars, Junnifer Aniston and Lisa Kudrow Nabbed Emmys. Aniston won for the lead actress in 2002 and Kudow, although she has the same billing of Aniston, won for the support actress in 1998. Surprisingly, the only friends cast members to not receive a nomination Emmy was Courtey Cox . Meanwhile, only Aniston, Kudrow and Leblanc received Nomination in Golden Globe - and Aniston was the only Victor, winning in 2003. Navigation of the new fame can be difficult, but some of the members of the cast of friends have fought more Of others. For Matthew Perry, dealing with a new way of life led to addiction. Although the dependencies of him were held under the packs at the moment, since then Perry has been rather sincerated of healing of him. Photo courtesy: Charles Sykes / Bravo / NBCU Photo Bank / NBCunivers away Getty Images between three and six seasons, Perry was dependent on alcohol and pills Á ě ä,~ "Although the previous dependence began well. The actor noted It was often "painful Hungover" on the set, bringing him to check in rehabilitation a couple of times. These days, a sober Perry has dedicated his time to help other drug addicts to find support and navigate in the recovery process. Despite Ross and Rachel. Finished being the central match of the show, the producers initially had another pair of energy in mind. According to co-creator Marta Kauffman, they intended to have Monica and Joey gather because "they seemed only the sexual sexual of the characters" . Photo of courtesy: Getty Fortunately, Monica has finished with Chandler Á ě ä,~ "and the rest is history. Nevertheless, it is clear that minds behind friends have always seen Monica as a sexual-positive character, confident. In the first episode, Monica has slept With someone after their first date, such as DBC Exects thought would have disabled the spectators. Fortunately, the studio audience had no problems with Decision and loved her just as she was written. While Joey is a lovable guy, Teddy Bear-like, CastMates Matt Leblanc didn't see it so at the beginning. In fact, they were a bit intimidated by him. According to reportedly, Leblanc's past Á ě ä,~ "a title like a model and is raised by a rough and difficult mechanic - has done the other actors a little. Photo of courtesy: NBCUniversal / IMDB not to mention, I The only thing they knew about the person on the screen of Leblanc was that it was a real womanizer. "I was afraid of that kind of boy," he reminded Jennifer Aniston. "He thinks he is very funny now. And, actually, can sit and comfort myself just like the Courteney or Lisa could. "Ä, as far as the cast castmate castes are actually concerned, the duck could take the cake: Lisa Kudow was terrified of birds and hated having to share it screen with a real duck. Also on its honeymoon, Monica is the character of type A, slightly intrusive we know and worship everyone. During the episode, you and Chandler end up competing with another couple, which seem to be Be just a step ahead of the Geller-Bings the entire journey. Even if the plot works well, it was not the initial premise. Photo of courtesy: Reisig & Taylor / NBCU Photo Bank / NBCUniversa Via Getty Images in the original version, Monica e Chandler were bumped to the first class, just to be pulled aside for the security of the airport. Chandler, being Chandler, made a joke on a bomb. The episode was taken aired only two weeks after the events September 11, then the NBC has quickly requested retailers. Subsequently, the original scenes have been released so that the fans could enjoy them. One of the great things about friends? The six fundamental characters have all received the equal billing during the show race. In fact, writers initially had a pie chart recorded on the wall so you can even exit the number of lines and beats for each character. Photo of courtesy: NBCUniversal / IMDB during the first season, actors have carried out $ 22,000 per episode, giving them even the same monetary foot. The second season saw them paid in a non-uniform way, which led to the six actors that corrupts together to ask for the pay parity for the three season. Driven by David Schwimmer, the cast turned to negotiate for the highest final season salaries. The result? Each actor made a huge $ 1 million per episode. At that time, David Schwimmer, a luxury Lew who had just concluded a race in a short-term show called Monty, and Courtey Cox, who was known for family ties and Ace Ventura: the pet detective. They were the most famous of the six friends. However, it was Matthew Perry which has become a hot goods during the pilot season. Photo of courtesy: Reisig & Taylor / NBCU Photo Bank / NBCUniversa Via Getty Images The same year Perry Landed Friends, shot at the pilot for LAX 2194, a show on airport luggage managers who worked for aliens . Hoping this intergalactic travel show will not do it, friends showrunners took a gambling and melted perry. Could there be a safer bet? We think no. While the cast ended up getting equal billing Á ě ä,~ "and equal pay - the show was not always conceived as having six roles to iron. In fact, co-creator Marta Kauffman and David Cran had wanted the story to focus on Four of friends: Rachel, Ross, Monica and Joey. (This probably explains their early desire, misleading to couple Monica with Joey.) Photo of courtesy: David Bjerke / NBCU Photo Bank / Getty Images That is right - Phoebe and Chandler They were destined to support characters. Fortunately, things have changed during the of casting, and writers have developed all and six "friends" loved on the same. This is made even more perplexed whenever the Phoebe part, then a support role, was offered to the wild comedian popular Ellen degeneres. The apartment that inherits monica is iconic for many reasons. Not only is the Dream New York Apartment Á ě ä,~ "There is so much closet space! Á ě ä,~" But since so many friends live at a certain point and continue to abandon often , It's the belex full of memories. Purple purple Aside, the most memorable feature of the apartment is that yellow frame hanging from the door pipopol. Photo of courtesy: Gary Null / NBCU Photo / NBCUniversal Bank Via Getty Images Originally, the frame was serving its typical purpose, but someone beat the table that was resting and broke the glass of the frame. Greg Great Director Set was creative and decided to use it as a door decor. There are many fun homes of the apartment, but our favorite - and the favorite is preferred - is that the refrigerator actually worked and was used to store drinks and snacks for the cast and crew. crew.
